

Mr. Lentswe Bhengu

Host of E-tv show, Wellingtons
Flava Queens

Taste of TV Host

Lentswe Bhengu is the host for the new E-tv show, Wellingtons Flava Queens, and has also launched his successful series of African dining experiences, Taste Africa, as well as being invited by The Playhouse Company (Durban) to curate an African food market experience, Flavours of Africa for Africa Day. Having completed a successful season of The Good Food & Wine Show (2016) in Cape Town, Johannesburg and Durban as MC at the Celebrity Chefs Theatre, Lentswe has now been invited to be one of the Celebrity Chefs for the Cape Town and Johannesburg leg of this year's Good Food & Wine Show. Another notable achievement in 2016 was having Lentswe casted as a co-presenter for Season 2 of the The Great SA Bake Off show. (See more on website)

Ms. Thabisa Mkhwanazi

Executive producer: Connect TV

Thabisa began her career at Unilever in 2005, where she managed big brands such as Shield, Axe, Dove and Organics. She spent 2007 working at the regional deodorants innovation headquarters in The Philippines – an opportunity that accelerated her marketing and business skills. In 2010, Thabisa joined Marico South Africa as Marketing Manager. In 2012, she joined Yum! on the KFC brand and was promoted to Marketing Director for KFC in 2015. Thabisa was South Africa's most awarded marketer in 2016 and was appointed to the position of Director: Corporate Affairs for KFC Africa in 2017. She is part of the team behind new food show, KFC Taste Kitchen. Thabisa holds a BCom (Hons.) in marketing from the University of Natal

Ms. Petronella Tasara

Executive producer: Connect TV

Petronella has a degree in History and English and research is her passion. She has extensive experience in television, starting out as a researcher and working her way to producer and director. As Executive Producer at Connect she drives content and production excellence, leading a team that made an indelible mark in reality television in South Africa with shows such as Our Perfect Wedding and Date My Family.

Ms. Lungile Nhlanhla

Master chef finalist and Food Editor

Lungi Nhlanhla, is a DUT graduate and Masterchef season 1 finalist. The foodie was the youngest finalist on Masterchef and took the food world by storm when she became Food Editor of Drum Magazine shortly after. She combines her love of food, writing and events management, in her own bespoke culinary business and blog, Lungi's Corner. In 2014, Lungi became the Brand Ambassador for Olive and Pride and is a judge for the Shisanyama Awards.

Ms. Wilna Van Schalkwyk

Head of Television at Okuhle Media

Wilna Van Schalkwyk is Head of Television for Okuhle Media, an award winning production company which produces over 500-hours of content per year. Current food productions include Kasilicious, Fabulous Food Academy, Brood en Botter, Neil Anthony Private Chef and Sarah Graham's Food Safari.

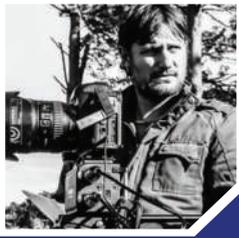

A true specialist in all aspects of television and production, Wilna's career spans close to 30 years in the broadcast industry. Her experience includes being part of the imaging and launch of SABC 1, 2 and 3. At last count, the last 10 years have seen her hands-on involvement in the development and creation of over 180 productions.

Mr. Brendan Gabriel

Vice President of Creative and Production at The Africa Channel

Brendan Gabriel is the recently appointed Vice President of Creative and Production at The Africa Channel, which offers a comprehensive suite of African programming to American audiences. Gabriel is the former Creative Head of Endemol Shine Africa, and has previously served as creative director at FinePoint Productions, and strategist at African Mediums Marketing and Advertising. He has compiled a noteworthy track record in format development, creative direction and results-driven content for both traditional television and digital platforms across Africa.

Mr. Jurgens Van Wyk

Executive Producer:
Green Zebra Productions

Jurgens van Wyk grew up in Zambia and, having graduated with a Bachelor of Arts from the UCT, Jurgens has a wealth of experience in television and film production. He has worked for broadcasters such as National Geographic, Animal Planet, BBC, Arte, ZDF and Food Network and this has given him first hand experience at every level of production; planning and logistics in pre-production, camera work & logistics in production, to writing and editing in post-production. Having created the Africa on a Plate webseries with host Lentswe Bhengu under the Green Zebra Productions banner, he has filmed food and chefs in Nigeria, Morocco, Lesotho, Tanzania, Zanzibar and South Africa. The TV series of Africa on a Plate airs in the US on The Africa Channel, as well as on DSTV's BET 129. Having identified web content as one of the major emerging markets for video content, he has produced 3 food webseries for Pick n Pay, including KitchenCoZa, Do it like a Pro, and A Perfect Christmas